FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Billsboro Winery releases a Barrel Fermented Dry Riesling 90 Points from Wine Enthusiast Magazine

GENEVA, NY – Billsboro Winery is proud to announce they have received a 90 point rating for their 2014 Dry Riesling Leidenfrost Vineyards by Wine Enthusiast Magazine. The review will be published in the March 2016 edition. Only 95 cases were bottled.

In its inaugural debut, this Riesling was 100% barrel fermented and aged on its lees for 8 months in neutral French oak barrels. The resulting wine has a distinctive texture and weight while still allowing classic citrus and slate flavors to shine through.

As winemaker Vinny Aliperti points out, “In recent years, winemakers have been trying to turn back the clock and embrace more traditional vinification methods, similar to those before the modernities of refrigeration, stainless steel and cultivated yeast strains became the norm. One such development in the Finger Lakes has been to replace stainless steel with neutral oak barrels as fermentation and aging vessels for its eponymous Rieslings. This decidedly tactile approach allows significantly more texture to develop than its stainless steel brethren.”

The 2014 Barrel Fermented Dry Riesling is available for purchase through www.billsborowinery.com and the tasting room in limited quantities.

Billsboro Winery is committed to crafting dry classic European varietal wines grown by Seneca Lake’s best vineyards. They are dedicated to focusing on small scale production, allowing them to devote more attention to providing a high quality product for their customers.
